4. I agree, each congregation impacts the larger mission of the synod. Likewise, if we want the congregations to impact the synod mission, we need to be sure the mission is clear and understood. As a member of the synod council, it would be important to represent that mission and work with the congregations to help identify their gifts and strengths, and therefore how they can support the synod, building and working together.
5. My daily work requires that I listen and guide team members by asking the right questions. No one person has all the right answers all the time. However, I believe that with God's help and the prayers of others I can perform said duties.
